THE CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER-DAY SAINTS

Penny Creek Ward

Hello friend,

Sorry I missed sending an email last week. Maybe you didn't even notice. That's totally fine. Sometimes things happen and I miss my regular practices.

When this happens, I might start to get a little disappointed with myself, but then I think about how I've sent a lot more emails than I haven't, so I'm doing okay. We can make mistakes or fall down once in a while (or often), and we can get back up every time. Realize all the good you have done.

I just want you to know that you are doing great. Sure, maybe you've made some mistakes, or sometimes feel you're not at your best self, but look how far you've come.

The Lord knows your story. He is not condemning you. He loves you and is saying "keep going!" He wants to help you. He's your biggest cheerleader. All you have to do is acknowledge that He is, thank Him, and ask Him what you should do next.

Try it.

Tap into the divine source, Jesus Christ will help you. Of course, we pray to our Heavenly Father in the name of Jesus Christ, but they are very united. The scriptures refer to them as one God, even though we know they are separate beings.

Ask the parent of your spirit what you should do next. And listen for the answer. In this case, listen doesn't mean with your ears, it means with your soul and mind.

That's the question of your life, that you can ask anytime, or all the time: what should I do next?

If you let God help you answer, you'll do many good things, be a blessing to others, and you'll have peace, joy, and happiness.

Thank you for all you do.

With love,

Bishop Williams

P.S.

- Jim Watts was baptized yesterday, thank you to all those who came to support him. He will be confirmed in Sacrament meeting today.
 - June is our month to clean the building. We are organizing it a little differently. Some of you will be on a cleaning team to clean one day this month. Try to contribute to your team when you're asked. Thanks.
